

ACROPOLIS (Academic Research Organisation for Policy Support) Governance For Development

The research project aims at facilitating a more effective implementation of a comprehensive approach to development and security issues in the partner countries of the Belgian development cooperation.

The central research question is the following: what kind of governance networks are needed to effectively implement a comprehensive approach by the Belgian development cooperation? The project will pay particular attention to, on the one hand, the 3D-LO (Defence, Development, Diplomacy - Law & Order) and ICP (Integrated Country Policy) processes already initiated within the Belgian development cooperation and, on the other, the importance of bridging the security-development and humanitarian-development (linked with forced displacement) nexuses.

To conduct this policy support research, the project foresees a combination of evidence papers, methodology development and case studies (Burkina Faso & Uganda) to answer this research question. This will ultimately result in an implementation plan, co-created with the stakeholders of the research programme, that will suggest:

- Guiding principles to implement a comprehensive approach,
- Concrete indicators to monitor a comprehensive approach
- An implementation process that lists the successive steps to be taken in order to implement a comprehensive approach.

Le projet de recherche vise à faciliter une mise en œuvre plus efficace d'une approche globale de la coopération au développement et de la sécurité dans les pays partenaires de la coopération belge au développement. La question centrale de la recherche est la suivante: quels types de réseaux de gouvernance sont nécessaires pour mettre en œuvre efficacement une approche globale de la coopération belge au développement? Le projet accordera une attention particulière, d'une part, aux processus 3D-LO (Défense, Développement, Diplomatie - Law & Order) et ICP (Integrated Country Policy) déjà initiés au sein de la coopération belge au développement et, d'autre part, aux l'importance de faire le lien entre le nexus sécurité-développement et le nexus humanitaire-développement.
